18 HTHS Students Found with Positive Reaction to TB Tests

In the tuberculin tests given Feb. 10, 18 new students with positive reactions were found.

Only 61 per cent of the total enrollment took the test. All persons who have previously had positive reactions were not requested to take the test so that many more than 18 should be regularly checked. The disease can be contracted in a very short time. This means that even those who have always had negative tests should continue to take them at every opportunity.

Free chest X-rays are given all students having positive reactions to the tuberculin tests. The chest plates will be made by the mobile x-ray units. The tuberculosis tests are made by putting a drop of germ-free liquid, called tuberculin, into the skin, usually on the arm.

Sometimes the tests are made by placing a square of paper against the skin and left for 48 hours. This is called the patch test.

The tests are read in two or three days. If there is no reaction, nothing is evident except maybe a little reddening of the skin. This shows that the tuberculosis germ is not living in the body. Later, the doctor may ask the person to repeat the test.

If the spot where the test was made is red and swollen, it is called a positive tuberculin reaction. This does not always mean that the subject has tuberculosis. It merely means that at some time in his life the germs which cause tuberculosis have entered his body and he should have an X-ray or other tests to determine if the germ has done harm. The doctor may ask other members of the family to be tested. One should always do as the doctor asks. He is trying to help and the cost will be small compared to the cost of later care if T. B. has developed.

The cost of care for a person with T. B. usually runs from $42 to $56 per week or more. This means that a years care would cost several thousand dollars. About one person in 75 can afford T. B.!

Little Women Chosen By Junior Committee For April Showing

Little Women, a three act play, dramatized from the widely read book by Louisa May Alcott, has been selected as the junior play by the junior play reading committee. April 10 is the date scheduled for its presentation.

The play has acting parts for 11 women and 5 men. Tryouts for parts in the play were held at a recent date.

The juniors on the play reading committee were Frank Chase, June Blackard, Carole Thaxton, Rhonda Jones, and Marjorie Zimmer. The committee was headed by Mrs. Lolo Eddy.

Skaggs to Participate In College Panel

Jerry Skaggs, president of the Student council, was invited to serve on a panel at an area guidance meeting, March 26.

The panel will consist of Southern Illinois university students and a few high school Student council members. The topic to be discussed will be "Career day or Career night."

The invitation came from the president of the Norris City Student council, where the meeting is to be held, at 5 p. m., Thursday, March 26.

Chem Club Initiates Twelve Members

The initiates were required to give a talk on some subject pertaining to chemistry. Then at the end of the meeting they were given a written riddle test in which common questions were given and the students had to answer each question with name of an element, radical, or compound.

A list of the new members follows: Ronald Bean, Bob Hays, Shirley Aldridge, Carolyn Anderson, W. T. Westbrook, Jack Shelby, Joan Glascock, Estella Crawford, Frank Chase, Don Vinyard, Paula Jo Holland, and Joe Stricklin.

The candidates were to have been initiated earlier in January, but due to conflicts the program had to be postponed.

James Govan, president, appointed the program committee for the second semester consisting of Shirley Kaid, chairman; Jim Matthews, Regina McCormick, Darryl Tucker, and Jack Shelby. These people will be in charge of the programs for the club meetings for the rest of the semester.

Officers for this year were selected at the first meeting of the semester, Jan. 27. They are: president, James Govan; vice-president, Tom Cole; secretary, Carolyn Wilson; and treasurer, June Blackard. These people will be in office until the second semester next year.

Korean Veteran Ag. Class Is Organized

A Korean veteran agriculture class was organized Feb. 9 for all veterans interested in agriculture. Regular classes won't begin until April 1.

A sum of $95 a month is paid to a student with no dependents while he is studying the course. With one dependent, he is paid $110 a month. With two or more dependents, $130 is the sum paid.

To meet the requirements, the veteran must show his discharge papers, marriage license and birth certificates of any children. Several government forms will be presented which he will be required to fill out. The veteran must be full time employed on a farm and must also own necessary equipment.

E. J. Thompson, the ag director, says that most of the veterans interested in the course are former ag students.

Harrisburg Student Wins District Contest of Elks

Catherine Klein, senior, has been announced the winner of the first prize, a $800 scholarship in the Illinois Elk's Association district essay contest. William Epperheimer of the Harrisburg Elk's lodge No. 1058, received the information from Dick Baggott of Anna, chairman of Youth Activities committee of the Elks South district.

Catherine was the winner of the Harrisburg contest and her essay was entered in the district contest. Last year the winner was James Crawford, who also won second place in the state contest. Crawford is now attending the University of Illinois on his Elks scholarship.

Essays were entered from the 16 lodges in the Elk's South district and they were judged out of the state. The district prize is an $800 scholarship.

The subject of Miss Klein's essay was "The Value of a Free Press to a Free Nation."

Local Students Enter Silk Screen Contest

Twelve second year art students have sent designs to Decatur, Ill. for judging in the American Silk company's national contest where they will be in the hands of the judges Feb. 21-March 7.

The students sending in designs were Gary Trammel, Dorothy Stille, Carolyn VanBibber, James Waddell, Charles Thompson, Lee Underwood, Kenneth Smothers, Billy Ewell, Roberta Pierson, Lucretia Winters, Dickie, Carnett, and Marilyn Foncree.

Some of the designs sent to Decatur include a house surrounded by shrubs with a fence running diagonally across the scene, a small flower, a Chinese head with pigtailed and a large fan tied with a ribbon, a tree being blown by the wind with dark clouds overhead, several patterns of flowers and leaves, a symmetrical snowflake design, and two crossed canes with a top hat, gloves and man's scarf in the portions made by the inter section of the two canes.

The designs are painted in water colors, and winning ones are reproduced by the company, on silk dress fabric by the silk screen process.

Band To Give 2nd HTHS Music Revue

"Hi School Hi Lites," a music revue, this year is being sponsored by the band, under the direction of Marshall Cothran, director of instrumental music. March 20 is the date set for the production.

The program will include several numbers, jokes, and skits.

Those selected for positions on the production staff are Richard Vinyard, stage manager; Dick Fritts, assistant stage manager; John Lee, electrician; Wayland Phillips, assistant electrician; Fritz Heine, skit properties; Ronald Lee, and Sid Bozarth, skit directors; David Patterson, assistant skit director; Mary Humm, publication manager; Leon Stull, stage carpenter; Agatha Phelps and Janice Phelps, typists; Cynthia Hancock, dance director; and Carol Richmond, stage settings.

Juniors Aim For $2000 In Feb. Sales Campaign

Approximately 174 members of the junior class are aiming at a goal of $2,000 in their magazine sales campaign. This drive for money has become an annual project for the junior class to raise money for the junior-senior prom.

Many valuable prizes are being offered to high salesmen in a sales contest which began Feb. 10 and will close Feb. 25. Mel Taylor, representative of the Curtis Circulation company, talked to the junior class Feb. 10 explaining sales procedures, profits from the sales, and the prizes being offered salesmen.

Representatives of 27 Colleges to Meet Here With Students

Representatives of 27 colleges, universities, training, and vocational schools will be here from Illinois, Missouri, Indiana, and Kentucky, Tuesday Feb. 24, at 7 p. m. HTHS students and their parents and delegates from the other high schools will be in attendance.

Special invitations have been extended to the high school seniors and their parents from Norris City, Galatia, Eldorado, Ridgway, Equality, Shawneetown, Cave-in-Rock, Elizabethtown, Rosiclare, Golconda, Vienna, Carrier Mills, and Harrisburg. However, juniors and their parents and faculty members from these or any other schools who are interested are welcome.

The following schools have indicated that they expect to be represented: Bethel college, Blackburn college, Browns Business college, Fontbonne college, Illinois college, Illinois Wesleyan university, Lindenwood college, Lockyear's Business college, MacMurray college, Millikin university, Monmouth college, Murray State college, McKendree college, Northwestern university, Park college, Rolla School of Mines and Metallurgy, Saint Louis university, Saint Luke's Hospital school for nursing, Shurtleff, Southern Illinois university, South West District Indiana State Nurse's association, University of Illinois, Wabash college, Washington university, William Jewell college, William Woods college.

Plans for this meeting were crystallized at the regular meeting of the Student council, Jan. 8, when Walter Gray, director of public relations of Millikin university, Decatur, was present to visit the council. Gray told of previous similar programs, their organization and success. He was here as a representative of the Association of College Admission councilors, who help high schools plan such programs.

The different college representatives will be present to tell of their school's merits, advantages, and strong points. Students may ask questions of them personally if they wish.

After a brief general meeting, the rest of the time will be allotted to interviews between student groups and representatives.

Principal R. L. Foster stated, "Your attendance, your active participation, and your contribution to the success of the project is anticipated and will be greatly appreciated. There are no fees and no obligations."

Balloon Travels 1000 Miles by Air to Dover, N. H.

A thousand miles by air! That's how far one of the many hydrogen filled balloons released from Taylor field and sold by the HTHS band at an Armistice day football game a few years ago went.

Leo V. Scott in Dover, N. H., about 1000 miles from here, found a blue balloon in his sister's field, and upon picking it up, found there was a card attached to it with the name and address of an HTHS student, Jerry Skaggs.

Scott says he found the balloon sometime ago, and just recently re-discovered the card.

"I have always enjoyed coming to the Harrisburg high school," stated Taylor, who is no stranger to HTHS. He also expressed hopes of the class exceeding their $2,000 goal this year. The junior class in 1951 sold $1,092.75 and the class last year, $1,316.70.

General Manager Appointed
Frank Chase, general manager, will be assisted by Martha Armistead, secretary. W. T. Westbrook is promotion manager and Paula Holland in charge of publication.

As much as 50 per cent profit will be made on the sales of the Saturday Evening Post, Ladies Home Journal, and the Country Gentleman. All other publications will pay 30 per cent.

A choice of either a Benrus wrist watch or portable radio will be given to any salesman exceeding $200. For all other high salesmen the following awards will be made at the close of the campaign: For $150, a Philco radio or Clinton watch; $125, a Parker "51" pen or Clinton watch; $100, a Cyma desk clock or Ansco flash camera; $75, a Parker pen or travel alarm clock; $50, a pen set or Xacto wood carving set; $30, $1. cash prize. Each day $1. is added to the treasure chest, begun with $2., which will be given to any member of the class if his name is drawn and he has sold the $16 quota.

Other Prizes at Close
At the end of this drive, a special treat will be given the homerooms reaching their quota and a theatre party to all selling their quota in the high home room. To all selling at least $30 in magazines, will go a certificate of achievement and an "Oscar" to all exceeding the $100 mark. Should the entire sales top $1,500 a plaque will be awarded similar to the one received by the junior class last year.

Prizes awarded daily are a grab bag of nickels and pennies to high salesman and a treat for the high homeroom; Sheaffer pencil to high salesman and a treat to all salesmen in the high homeroom; $2 to the high salesman and $1 to second high; one pound boxes of chocolates to three high salesmen; free movie tickets to all selling their quota; grab bag; $2 to high salesman and a treat to all in his homeroom.

Nine New Students Enroll Late at HTHS.

Nine new students enrolled late at HTHS since the school term began in September. The new students are Raymond Brogan, James Wilson, William Hull, Nettie Duncan, Elaine Krebs, Thomas Vaughn, and Bessie Bennet.

The total of students enrolled in school at the opening of the term was 805. Fifty six students have dropped to leave a total of 740.

Sid Substitutes

Oh Happy Day—Dave ain't here so your old disk jerky is here to make with the 20 year old jokes and other sundry means of filling up space on Estes' page.

I hear that the junior class is as usual selling magazine subscriptions to finance the Prom. In the absence of and under the direction of Wiley I hereby issue this edict:

All under classmen are required to buy at least five subscriptions.

Negligees—What a woman hopes she'll have on when the house burns down.

Cat Joke, (courtesy Greek Goodwin) "Thes two tipsters were going past a bank, and they heard a shot. They ran inside to investigate and saw the bank president lying in a pool of blood. He was dipping his finger in it and writing about the robbery. Says one to the other, "Dig that crazy fountain pen."

Relax and let go—read it, I swear throughout the whole column, Wiley Motors (Lincoln-Mercury, the two greatest cars on the road) won't ever be mentioned.

Thought for the day—"To get ahead you must have one."—If you don't like that try this—"He who laughs last is a fool for wasting time."

Overheard at the store this morning between two "innocent" young seniors about their dates the previous night with the navy, "I think he's the chief petting officer."

Be sure and listen to "Requestfully Yours" the show of shows conducted by the guy whose nose is a topographical error.

A little boy and girl who lived next to a nudist colony found a knothole one day. The little girl took the first look. "What are they?" the little boy asked. "Men or Women?" "I don't know," she replied, "They haven't any clothes on."

In Manhattan, New York Post Columnist Leonard Lyons reported that in California a psychiatric patient was asked if he were Napoleon. He craftily said, "No" A lie detector showed he was lying.

Historical novel—A fictitious tale covering up a stern reality.

According to the publication, "Illinois Schools," We show great originality in the way we write our oath of allegiance.

Have you seen any of your class mates recently write out the Pledge to the Flag? One educator reports: Instead of "I pledge allegiance" we find the children writing: "I perjur legons" "I plaig alegins," "I pledge a legion," I pledge the Legen to the flag." Instead of "To the republic for which it stands," we find: "to the Republicans"; "to the public for witches stand," "to the republic for Rich can stands." Instead of one nation indivisible, we find "One country inavisable", "one country inavicable," one nason in a feasible." Instead of "liberty and justice" they write: "with liberty and jester," off liberty just for all," "with liberty and jests straws."

That concludes another day of broadcasting, I'll see you around.

Miss Lovelace

Dear Miss Lovelace,

My gal is in the opera business. She's got a steady job at the Municipal Opera. She ain't much to look at, but I thought maybe I could marry her for her money. She says she makes a cleaning pay day.

Chiselin Charlie

Dear Charles, I happen to know the girl of your financial dreams. I'll say she cleans the joint out every pay day. If she didn't she would lose her job as janitor.

Miss Lovelace

Dear Miss Lovelace,

I am always hungry. Being plump, naturally I am trying to diet. Do you think a good meal would hurt my figure?

Oleo

Dear Oleo,

Remember this, "The squarer the meal, the rounder the eater."

Miss Lovelace

Dear Miss Lovelace,

My fiance thinks he is another Noah W. He traverses the halls exhorting me with words beyond my comprehension. He continues incessantly belittling my vocabulary. What can I do to restrict his incomprehensible Websterian dictionary utterance?

Miss I Am Stumped

Dear Miss I Am Stumped,

Just get an old time ear trumpet and say, "Heh?" to everything he says until you wear him down. Don't say, "Heh," "heh!" He might think he was another Bob Hope!

Miss Lovelace

Dear Miss Lovelace,

I have a problem. I get along with all the boys, and never have any trouble. My problem is a problem which concerns the problem of not having a problem. This worries me because we women worry about not having a worry in the world to worry about. Please suggest something I can put my mind to!

Worried

Dear Worried,

I suggest that you might worry about the state of national affairs since the Republicans got in office. Is there going to be a depression? Do I have enough laid away for a rainy day? What is the younger generation coming to, etc.!

Yours helpfully,
Miss Lovelace

Dear Miss Lovelace,

My boy friend is a brain. When he comes over to see me, he sits down and starts reading the dictionary to me. I have been sitting here 40 nights listening. How can I stop him?

I Hearmorewords

Dear Miss Hearmorewords,

Take him down to Midway and introduce him to Shirley Aldridge.

Miss Lovelace

Dear Miss Lovelace,

My boy friend has an old model Z Ford, and it has the darndest habit of conking out when we are out on some lonely country road. What can I do.

Priscilla

Dear Priscilla,

My advice to you is to get your boy friend to buy one of the cars so often advertised in these columns. You won't have to worry about it conking because you'll be lucky if you ever get the doggone thing started.

Miss Lovelace

Dear Miss Lovelace,

My boy friend looks exactly like the Old Stone Face. Everytime we leave the house we go out into the hills and look at the Old Stone Face so he can admire himself.

Yours,
I Ambushed

Dear Ambushed,

After great consideration of your question, I have an idea. Take a tube of nitro-glycerin from the chemistry lab and blow Old Stone Face to pieces. It would be much more complicated to get a new boyfriend, dearie.

Miss Lovelace

It's In The Book

Good afternoon, all ye weary students. How is ya all? My! isn't it awful the way prices are now-a-days? In this age it isn't unusual for both the husband and wife to be employed. That's the way my brother Joe (that's what I like to call him, Joe) and his wife both work. Yep, they're doing ok since Joe finally got his first job.

I wonder if those Eldorado girls visiting here the other day were AWOL.

What's this malarkey about dis continuing the Keystone? Why, the Keystone is a part of the school, and taking it away would be like taking away the gymnasium or Taylor field. Taking away this book would be taking away one of the most important things of anyone's high school life.

Without the work of the student body we most assuredly will lose it. So, let's back the Keystone with work! You'll regret it if you don't.

An actress noted for her barbed remarks, met another actress, recently turned author, at a party, and referring to the latter's just published book said: "I enjoyed your book, darling—who wrote it for you?"

"I'm so glad you liked it" responded the other, and with disarming innocence continued, "Who read it to you?"

Wow! What a time we had at the Chemistry club initiation last Feb. 10. I kinda felt sorry for some of the newcomers though. Well, live and learn.

The judge told the defendant sternly: "I can't think of anything worse than a man beating up his wife. What made you do it?"

"Well," spoke up the man, "she kept saying—"Hit me, go ahead, hit me—and I'll have you brought before that bald-headed old baboon in court and he'll fix you up."

"Case dismissed," declared the judge.

Hey! Let's all go to the Herrin game in Davenport gym here tonight.

About the Pentagon: "Great symbol of strength, a mighty mass—built of steel, supported by brass."

"Tish" got her car fixed. The horn works now (that should come in handy), and the car no longer rocks when she runs over a toothpick.

Last night I held a little hand—the hand I love to hold. So thrilled was I, I thought I'd die, my blood ran hot an then cold. No other hand in all this world could greater solace bring, as the little hand I held last night—four aces and a king.

Overheard in a class room: "Please," pleaded Sonny, "take me off detention, I haven't been on detention for a month and now you're going to break the record."

Evelyn White was the only girl in the journalism class. She left the second semester. One rose surrounded by thorns—but not very sharp thorns!

God's Season

By Laura Johns

'Tis the season of gaiety and mirth;
The warm sun shine on all the earth;
The trees are budding;
The grass is green;
Nature is slowly changing the scene.
She puts a twinkle in the night.
She brings to everyone delight.
Yes, it is a season of beauty, 'tis so.
How this happens only God can know.

 He: Now, may I ask you a question?
 She: Yes.
 He: Does my tie glow in the dark?

Band director: Ronald, do you know the "Road To Mandalay?"
 Student: Yes, do you want me to play it?
 Band director: No, take it.

From the Indianapolis, Ind, TIMES: "William Gardner took his wife deer hunting with bow and arrow. She was just a beginner, but she bagged a Buick at 60 feet."

Teen-ager, gulping popcorn at a movie, to her girl friend: "You know something? I don't like double features. I always eat too much."

Right behind us at the movies sat a father with his small daughter. The picture was "This Woman Is Dangerous," and several times the child's voice piped up: "Daddy, where is the dangerous woman?" He shushed her, but she was persistent. "Which one is the dangerous woman?" she wanted to know. Finally he reached the end of his patience. "For heaven's sakes, be quiet," he snapped. "They're all dangerous."

A job applicant wrote "No" to the query "Have you ever been arrested?" To the following question, which was "Why?", he answered: "Never got caught."

The hotel boy who carried my bag out to the car was impressed with the space in the luggage compartment. "Why, a man could sleep in there!" he said.

Don't you think it would be a little short for you?" I asked, noticing his lanky stature.

"Well," he said, thoughtfully, "I'd rather sleep all night layin' down, all scrooched up, than sit up all night all hunkered down."

I asked the waitress in a college town restaurant if she were an out-of-state student. "Yes, she said, "I come from a poke-and-plumb town."

"What kind of town?" I said, laughing.

"A poke-and-plumb town," she replied. "You poke your head out of the car window and you're plumb out of town."

Pet Peeves

Susie Grammer's pet peeve is being called her real name, Ola Luvinia.

Mrs. Eddy dislikes noisy students who apparently feel because they are not in class, school hasn't begun yet or is out.

Yvonne Hen can't love world history.

Billy Joe Webb is allergic to referees.

Lorelei Wise is very disgusted at not being able to bowl.

Dianne Xanders' pet peeve is being told by someone who is very smart that they're going to flunk a test.

Shirley Penrod's pet peeve is diagramming sentences.

Peggy Raley's pet peeve is some one who lies.

Jack Dale is decidedly against detention.

Barbara Yates' pet peeve is too short furloughs for Freddy Barger.

Enlightening Facts On Slumber Party

I have often wondered why a gang of girls go to a slumber party. First off, if I were a girl, I would change the name. It isn't a slumber party. It should be called something besides slumber because there is no slumber—just gab! gab! gab! about girls who are not at the party.

From what I hear, the girls can really fix some queer concoctions for food. At one such party the first course consisted of an olive sandwich and buttermilk. Another favorite is toadstool soup and dill pickles. Gad!

The party goes on and on into the night. Those that pay and pay are the poor parents.

Dating Tips

When you say, "Yes" to an all-important request for a special date—how do you feel when you hang up the phone? Butterflies and moths flying high in your stomach—about what to wear, introductions to parents?

What shall I wear? Key your costume to the event, and don't pick this moment to try something new that you're not sure is becoming.

Will he like my folks? Throw out a conversational lead, so that both parties aren't left floundering. "Mother, this is Jimmy Brown; he's just come here from Senior Play practice."

What will we talk about? Sit up and take notice of things if your line of patter suddenly runs dry. Ask his opinion of the '53 model in the car dealers window, comment on the star of the movie the local theatre is showing. And try to wind up with a question, so that he can play too.

Will I do the right thing? "Casual" is the byword for modern manners. This does not mean sloppy. It means that you don't have to be cowed by every waiter that looks your way. Bone up on a good etiquette book before the date, and when in doubt, ask.

Will he kiss me good night? Well, not on a first date, we hope. Don't dawdle on the doorstep, or he may wonder just what you're waiting for.

Will he call me again? Tough question sometimes—other times, easy as pie. Usually, if you've had a good time, he has too. This is the part you leave to Providence.

Shelby Faces Wild Beasts

By Jack Shelby

There I was in the wilds of Africa, a python curled around my neck, a wild elephant stampeding straight toward me, and a tiger crouched on a limb above my head ready to spring. What did I do?

I'll tell you. But let me begin at the beginning. Ever since I was young, I've wanted to be a wild animal hunter in Africa. Of course I was fully aware of the dangers involved, but I thought I was experienced enough to handle any situation. I was an expert on hunting. Why, when I was six weeks old I was crawling around shooting mice with a double barreled shot gun. Mom wanted a cat, but I told her that my method was the best. Oh, of course it ran into money for repairs on the floor, but shucks, cat food costs money too! And another thing, my method got rid of a few pesky neighbors with poor nerves.

Adventurous Youth

But on with the story. When I was six, I got a job in the movies wrestling Tarzan, but I broke his back so they fired me. However, by that time I thought I was ready to go to Africa. I didn't have the money for the trip; so I held up a bank with water pistols and booked passage on a liner bound for Africa. I smelled something fishy when I found that it wasn't a liner at all but a 20 foot fishing boat. One day I knew that the old boat didn't have long to live because the sailors all got into a life boat and rowed away. I had always heard that rats leave a sinking ship. Anyway the ship went down and of course I did too, but I swam the rest of the way using my crawl stroke.

Into The Jungle

When I arrived, I hired a native guide and struck out for central Africa.

That brings me up to date, I believe, so I'll get on with the story now. There I was surrounded by wild beasts. As I was unarmed, I thought I would try hypnosis. I gazed into the elephant's eyes and he gazed back, but only for a second. The second he met my cutting glance he rolled over, out cold.

Then I turned around to the tiger and darted a look at him! The python however, wouldn't even look at me and he has now squeezed my petite 58 inch waist down to a mere 8 inches — — — and — — — that's — — — about — — — all — — — gasp, gasp.

Question: What would do if you were given a Lymnaea?

Phillip Herron—Feed it to Joe Miller.

Pat Sayers—I don't know.

Venita Hicks—Now, where did you find that word?

Willie Owen—Sell it for a million dollars. (optimist!)

Jim Wallace—I'd frame it and hang it on my wall.

Ed Miller—Give it to my history teacher.

Question: Do you think teachers should permit candy and cokes in class?

Charlene Beal—No, not in class, though it would be nice.

Shirley Russell—That's not fair. They should pass them around.

Evelyn White—No, because it interferes with study. Candy and lessons don't match.

Frank Santy—Yes, after working yourself to death, you need refreshing. Teachers should furnish them. (he's an optimist too).

Jack Nolen—You don't know from nothin' do you?

Canines Beat Orphans to Capture First

The Harrisburg Bulldogs are now alone in first place in the South Seven after defeating the powerful Centralia Orphans, Friday, 13, 72-68. Harrisburg has W. Frankfort and Herrin yet to play to hold their lead.

At one time in the first quarter, the Orphans had a 5 point lead, 16-11, and then led 29-24, once in the second period. But Harrisburg quickly closed both gaps. The first period ended with Centralia ahead, 18 to 17, and at halftime the Bulldogs held a one point lead, 37-36.

Then came the third period, in which Harrisburg shot seven times in the first three minutes and made six baskets for 12 points, while the Orphans were making five points, and the locals went into a 49-41 lead.

Keep Safe Margin

Although the margin diminished a bit, the Bulldogs held on pretty well the remainder of the contest. At the end of the third period they were ahead 58-53, the same margin they held at the end of the game.

Joe Frederick fouled out with 3 minutes and 15 seconds of the third quarter gone and four of the starting Centralia five left on fouls during the last part of the final period. They were Chapman, Campbell, Mason, and Gierton.

Harrisburg held a 71-64 lead with two minutes and 45 seconds remaining and a short time thereafter went into a passing stall which lasted for more than a minute before stopping.

Jerry Taylor played an outstanding game and was high scorer for the locals with 19, not missing a free shot.

The local scoring was pretty well distributed with Fred Wilmoth getting 17, Dalton 14, and Gidcumb 13.

Harrisburg has an 8-2 mark in the conference standings and an overall mark of 16-5 for the season.

The following evening the Bulldogs traveled to Granite City to squeeze out a 70-65 victory. After trailing 11-9 at the quarter, 29-25 at the half, and 48-44 at the end of the third quarter, the Canines scored 26 points in the final frame of the game to win. Wilmoth scored 27 points to lead the Bulldogs offense. Hunnicut from Granite City poured in 32 points. The Bulldog reserves won the preliminary game also.

Sport Scene

By James Govan

The Bulldogs have four more games before tournament time. Tonight they face a tough Herrin crew; tomorrow night they meet a weak Christopher team. Then next week end they close the regular season, playing W. Frankfort and Johnston City.

Tonights game will be tougher than the Bulldogs may think. Herrin has come a long way since the season started. Last year, Herrin unexpectedly beat the Canines 49-47. Let's hope they don't again. The Bulldogs whipped the Tigers 60-52 earlier in the season. Not much is known about Christopher except that they are very weak. We should have an easy time in this one.

Frankfort comes to town next Friday. They nipped the Canines 51-50 earlier this season. The Bulldogs hope to repay the Red Birds in the return engagement. Johnston City's Indians furnish the final opposition. The Indians have a mediocre club. The Bulldogs should close the season on the victory trail.

More than likely, Harrisburg will face the Rams at McLeansboro. It will be a tremendous task to subdue them again. The Rams will really be fighting for blood. If the Bulldogs go on to Salem, they will be likely to find Centralia and Pinckneyville there. If Harrisburg goes to state, it will have to be the hard way.

In the last seconds of play, Fred Wilmoth scored the points necessary for the 70-69 victory over Mt. Vernon Feb. 6. He scored five points in the last 22 seconds, three on fouls and two on a field goal. Catfish copped scoring honors with 28 points, leading Jim Stokes of Mt. Vernon by 3 points.

At this point, I would like to make a correction. In a recent issue, it was reported that the Bull-pups lost a 62-48 decision to the Mt. Carmel frosh-soph. The Bull-pups won the game by that score.

A former HTHS gridder, Jim Catlin, was awarded his letter at the University of Illinois 34th annual banquet this year. Catlin, during his senior year at Illinois, broke into the starting lineup several times this last season. He was one of the Bulldog 1948 South Six football champions.

Bull Dogs to Face Eldorado in First Game of Regional

The Harrisburg Bulldogs face their arch-rivals, the Eldorado Eagles, in the first round of the McLeansboro Regional tourney. The tournament will be held March 2-6. Six other entrants comprise the rest of the field.

Here is a rundown on the first round. Powerful Mt. Vernon opens the tourney against Galatia's speedy Bearcats. In the second game, Carrier Mills meets Wayne City who has the tallest boy in the tourney, standing 6 ft. 8 in. Game three is the Harrisburg-Eldorado encounter. The final game finds the host, McLeansboro's Foxes, meeting the Shawneetown district winner with Shawneetown the winner in all probabilities.

Harrisburg will face a team they have already defeated twice this season. They downed Eldorado 58-39 earlier this season and recently walloped them 80-47. The entire regional field is very strong. In fact, this regional should be one of the best in Southern Ill.

If everything goes as expected, the Mt. Vernon Rams will face the Bulldogs in the championship game. It will be a game of great interest. Harrisburg has nipped the Rams twice this season, 63-61 and 70 to 69. The teams will be fighting for the right to enter the Salem sectional.

The sectional will be host to the winners of the regionals at Centralia, Campbell Hill, Vandalia, and McLeansboro. The tourney will probably include Centralia, Pinckneyville, and either Mt. Vernon or Harrisburg.

The regional pairings follow:

Game 1: Mt. Vernon vs. Galatia.
Game 2 Carrier Mills vs. Wayne City, Game 3, Harrisburg vs. Eldorado, Game 4: McLeansboro vs. Shawneetown district winner.

Other regionals assigned to Southern Illinois will be held at Metropolis, West Frankfort, Anna Jonesboro, and Cairo. They in turn will be sent to the Marion sectional.

Wilmoth Makes Last Five Points for Bull Dog Win

In the last few seconds of play, Fred Wilmoth scored the five points necessary for the 70-69 victory over the Mt. Vernon Rams, Feb. 6. With 22 seconds remaining and Mt. Vernon leading four points, Wilmoth was fouled and made both shots. With eight seconds to go, Wilmoth connected with a field goal and was fouled as he went up. He made the charity

Offense Sparkles as Canines Win, 80-47

Displaying their best offensive game of the year, the Bulldogs thoroughly trounced the Eldorado Eagles, 80-47. It was a new season high for one game.

The game was entirely a team victory with the scoring very evenly divided. Richard Gidcumb led the scorers with 15 points; Wilmoth and Frederick each had 13; Taylor had 10, while Dalton made 9. Smith, with 11 points, led the Eldorado offense.

The Bulldogs led all the way except at the outset of the game. They led 17-10 at the end of the first quarter. In the second, they racked up 23 points as they romped to a 40-20 half time lead. Harrisburg held a 60 to 26 lead at the end of the third period. With reserves of both teams playing most of the last period, Eldorado outscored the Bulldogs 21-20.

Eldorado tried a tight zone defense against the Canines, but the Bulldogs adjusted themselves and started hitting from outside. The Bulldogs held Eldorado to but 10 field goals, but the Eagles made 27 free throw points. The Canines hit for 28 free throws. Fifty nine fouls were called in the game; Harrisburg had 28 while Eldorado committed 31.

The Bull-pups won the preliminary game, 68-66. After leading comfortably all the way, the Pups faltered and squeezed out a two point decision. They led 16-14 at the quarter, 35-24 at the half, and 59-43 at the end of the third quarter.

Dave Anglin and Dave Harrison tied for scoring honors, both having 19 points.

toss clinching the game, although the Rams with 5 seconds to go, attempted a sleeper play, but a pass went wild.

Catfish copped scoring honors with 28 points, leading Jim Stokes of Mt. Vernon by 3 points.

In a fast first quarter, the Bulldogs kept pace with the Rams and held a 19-18 lead at the quarter's end. During the second quarter, the Canines once more outscored the Rams by one point to hold a 36-34 lead at halftime. At one point in the period, Harrisburg held a 24-18 lead.

Rams Lead By Five

In the third canto, the Rams outscored the Bulldogs 17-10 leading 51-46 at the end of the frame. However, both Joe Frederick and Richard Gidcumb had fouled out.

But in the final quarter, the Battlin' Bulldogs retaliated to win. Mt. Vernon led most of the period but faltered in the last minute. Jim Stokes rang up 25 points to lead the loser's offence. It was the first time in years that Harrisburg has taken both games of the season from the Rams.

The Bull-pups, who never got started, were defeated 67-38. They trailed all the way, 19-9 at the quarter, 38-16 at the half and 54-21 at the end of the third. Dick Weatherly was high man with 12 points.

Sid Tackles Kidnappers

By Dick Bozarth

I, The Great Detective, Sid Shovel, sat in my office. I wore a long shocking pink gown with a dozen service badges pinned to it. On a whisker stand beside me hung three or four pairs of false whiskers. Goggles, blue spectacles, and motor glasses lay within easy reach. I could at a moments notice assume eight disguises—at the same time. On a nearby chair stood half a bucket of cocaine and a dipper. My face was absolutely impenetrable. A pile of cryptograms lay on my desk. I, Sid Shovel, hastily tore them open one after the other, solved them, and then threw them down the cryptogram-chute at my right.

There was a knock on the door. I wrapped myself in a black domino, adjusted a pair of false red whiskers, and cried.

"Come in."

My secretary entered, "Ha," I said, "it is you." I laid aside my disguises.

"Sid," she said, "a mystery has been committed!"

"Ha," I said, feeling my toe nails curl with excitement, "a mystery such as will baffle the police of the entire city?"

"The police are committing suicide and are lying in heaps outside the poolroom. They are so baffled!"

"Is the mystery unparalleled in the whole annals of Scotland Yard, Dick Tracy, and Mike Hammer?"

"Yes."

"And it involves names that you dare not think of, let alone gargle by Morse code does it not?"

"Yes."

"And is it so connected with the diplomatic services that England will be forced to borrow a few billion ha'pennce from the U. S.?"

Still the answers were in the affirmative. I poured myself a case of Scotch—this would be a tough case.

"What's more," I continued, "it was committed in broad daylight on the floor of the House of Commons. Was it not?"

Still, "Yes."

"Good," said I (Sid Shovel, Worlds' GREATEST Detective), "out on this disguise and tell me about it."

She immediately wrapped herself in a vulgar violet rug with ghastly green embroidery and whispered in my sweet pink shell ear.

"The Prince of Dorrisville has been kidnapped!"

A prince stolen! Evidently a Bourbon! (thus the topic brought up. I poured one). The scion of one of the oldest families of Dorrisville kidnapped! Here indeed was a mystery worthy of my analytical brain.

My secretary handed me a telegram. It read, "The Prince of Dorrisville stolen. Must have him here for opening day of exhibition $1,000,000 (one million dollars) reward." It was from the Prefect of Police of Paris.

With me to act is to think, and to think, act—every now and then I could do both together.

"Wire Paris for a description of the prince."

She bowed and left.

Then I hear a scratching at the door.

"Come in," I said.

He entered. A circus tent was thrown over his back and he crawled stealthily on on his hands and knees. He stood up, threw off his disguise—

It was the Prime Minister of England.

Yarber Detects For Stonefeller

By Don Yarber

I was startled out of a deep slumber when the phone rang in my office. I reached for the receiver, brushing away the spider webs that had accumulated there. Business was sure slow nowadays since Shovel set up here, no one wants to hire me, Don Yarber, Private (first class at that) Eye.

"Hello," I drawled sleepily, "Don Yarber's Detective agency, It's me a'talking."

The voice at the other end of the wire said, "Hello, can I talk to the boss? Tell him it's Mrs. Stonefeller. There's been a murder out here at 1790 First street."

"This is the boss Mrs. Stonefeller." I says in the most business like tone I could muster. "I'll be right out to see you."

I hung up on her before she could change her mind. I got on the elevator and zoomed down. Once I tried jumping out the window because the elevator was too slow. That was a foolhardy thing to do though—I sprained my trigger finger in the fall. I didn't mind the fall, it was the sudden stop that I didn't like.

I sped off to the scene of the crime which turned out to be a huge mansion that hadn't been used for a long time. Without bothering to knock, I walked through the door into the dusty hall. The dust was so thick I had to go back and get a shovel.

Finally, I got to the stairs leading to the second floor. I started to ascend when I heard a noise sounding like footsteps coming down the stairs. Yet I couldn't see anyone. My eyes popped out and it took me five minutes to dust them off and put them back.

"A spook can't hurt me," I assured myself, and started up the stairs again. When I reached the top, I found an empty carton. On the side of it, I read, "Mister Y. Walker Seare your friends into conceptions (fits, my pocket dictionary told me) with this Mister Y. Walker." Maybe this was all a joke, I told myself. I searched every room but one in the whole house and didn't find anything but dust, cob webs, and spiders, and a few bats.

Well, I opened the door of the last room and stepped inside. There, on the four poster bed, I saw a corpse. The dummy, I says to myself—he'll catch cold with the covers kicked off like that!

Maybe I was wrong about him catching cold, but in the other part I was right. It was a dummy. By looking at his Space Cadet membership card, I learned that his name was Barley McCarty. (Probably Charlie's brother.) I wondered where Edgar was.

I sobbed a few times to think that one of my brother space cadets was dead, covered his stiff body with my overcoat, and looked around for clues to identity of the murder.

In one corner of the room I saw a closet which I thought might conceal someone. I gathered my scattered nerves, dusted them off (boy, it was dusty in there!), crammed them back in my noodle (not Lipton's either), and headed for the closet door.

With a sub-conscious effort due to my hysteria, I jerked the door off the hinges and flung it behind me.

"Don't shoot!" a rattly voice laughed, and a Red Skeleton stepped into the room. "I'm just having fun," he said.

The joker! For causing me all that trouble, just for a joke, I painted him chartreuse.

Several band students are attending the annual "Campus Lights" at Murray State college, Murray, Ky. Campus Lights, an annual event sponsored by two fraternities, is being held Feb. 19, 20, and 21.

The music on the program is arranged by the students of the college.

Former Harrisburg students taking part in the program are Bob Beltz, Jim Fern, Gene Barnett, and Shirley Vinyard.

Benita Chester, Mona Healy, Dorothy Fulkerson, Georgia Lawrence, Harry Boyd, David Patterson, John Wiley, Bill Braddock, John Shepherd, Jody Stricklin, John Lee, and Larry Reed were entertained at a surprise party for Dick Lawrence at his home Feb. 7.

Another party the same evening was held at Carol Richmonds' home. The guests were Fredi Christman, Margie Zimmer, Sally Russler, David Patterson, John Wiley, Harry Boyd, Ronald Bean, Bob Moss and Frank Chase.

Boys in the ag classes made rope halts a few days ago. After they were finished, they took them home although Mr. Thompson should have kept half of them. Ask Jim Wilson for details.

Bill Patton, a junior, brought a grain scoop to a history class. Waving it in the air, he asked for a bid, saying he wouldn't sell it for less than 50 cents. About that time the handle broke and the auction was postponed.

Jim Harris thought someone moved the pond on him the other night when he drove off into a mud hole down at the skating rink. After his pushing and digging, Mickey Walls came to his rescue pulling him out.

The annual P. E. exhibition was presented Feb. 17 in the Davenport gymnasium by groups from the boys and girls P. E. classes. Relays and tumbling were events on the bill. Admission was 15 and 25 cents.

A total of $51.68 was collected for the March of Dimes Wednesday, Feb. 11. The money was collected in the English classes.

"I wanna cake! Why can't I have a cake too?" wailed Jerry Taylor when the coach told him he couldn't have a cake at the bake sale last week because of training rules. "Don't worry little boy, we'll get you a cake," many voices were heard promising Jerry. But Jerry has to be a good boy and win the South Seven Championship first however!

Senior Spotlight

Fred Wilmoth

Fred Wilmoth, better known by his nick name, "Catfish," is the senior Personality who looms in the spotlight this week. Fred is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred B. Wilmoth, Sr. 103 West College street.

One is safe in saying that "good sportsmanship" is Fred's motto. He has shown this on the football field, basketball floor, baseball diamond, and in all other activities in which he has engaged. Besides keeping up with all his extra curricular activities, Fred keeps his grades up and is an honor student. Since his freshman year, he has played on the football team and basketball team of which he is captain. He also went out for track his first three years and for baseball last year. It is probable that he will be out for each of these again. Fred is a member of the Latin club, Chemistry club, and the H-Club.

He spends his leisure hours reading and going to the show. Reading (most of which consists of history) might be considered his hobby.

Did Ya Know That

Fred Wilmoth plays the piano? The Bulldogs have not lost on their home floor this year?

Donald Reed and Jerry Pry have not missed a fire this year? Tommy Davis' Crosley is in hibernation this winter?

James Ward was the politest boy when he took his T. B. shot? He let everybody go ahead of him.

Nicky Questelle got a letter from the Ground Observers Corps, of the U.S.A. Air force?

David Rees has a real fine tenor voice?

Of ten taking Frech, only one is a boy? (lucky him)

The 7th hour biology class doesn't like to dissect frogs?

Mr. Cothran is 6 ft. 4 in. tall? Once upon a time one of the janitors was up on the roof working and he fell into "B" assembly? (he needed some study)

Miss Nance's gym is called the torture room?

Lila Loskaby has the mumps? Lois Randolph can type 68 words a minute for 10 minutes with only 3 errors?

Caesar's Life Told To Latin C. Member

Various events of the life of Caius Julius Caesar were presented to the Latin club members at their meeting Feb. 3. Four members presented topics on different phases of his life.

A part of Caesar's life, his martial affairs, is little known. He had four wives—the first he must have married when he was very young. His second wife Cornelia, died while young. It has been said that Ceasar loved Cornelia much more than any of his other wives, and because of this, he had an oration at her funeral, which was customary only for older women. Suspicion of his third wife Pompeia, caused him to divorce her soon after their marriage. Calpurnia, Caesar's fourth wife was a very superstitious woman.

Many honors were bestowed upon Caesar during his life of 58 years. One that pleased him was the laurel wreath because it covered his bald head.

Caesar is well known for his campaign in Gaul as a shrewd, smart general. He insisted upon speed, surprise attacks, and strategy, and because of this he first gained fame in this field when he defeated the soldiers of Armus in Gaul. He worked from the bottom up to a dictatorship for life.

Few people realize that Caesar was a writer. His writings were accurate and this is proved by his writing of the Gallic campaigns. Sometimes in the middle of a war, Caesar would sit down and write poems and criticisms. His writings include poetry, grammar, history, and astronomy.

These discussions were presented to the club by Connie Ingram, Anne Funkhouser, James Govan, and Ronald Wilson. At the next club meeting, plans for the Roman banquet, an annual event, will be discussed.

John Wasson, Ex-Pres. Of Library Club, Gives Book to HTHS Library

John Wasson '52 who is now stationed at the air force base in Cheyenne, Wyo., presented a book entitled "Know Your Enemies", by Delia Mares, to the Harrisburg high school library. The book is an attack on communism. John was president of the Library club last year.

U. of I. Enrollment Is Second in Nation

Full-time enrollment in the University of Illinois is second highest in the nation—topped only by the University of California—according to the annual study of enrollment figures made by President Raymond Walters of the University of Cincinnati.

The U. of I. totals reported by President Walters are slightly different from the final figures announced by U. of I. office of admissions, since he requested them before final figures were available.

Full-time enrollment figures in the first 10 institutions as listed by Walters are:

California, 33,770; Illinois, 18,592; Minnesota, 18,496; University of Michigan, 17,002; Ohio State university, 16,410; and University of Washington (Seattle), 12,249.

Contrary to expectations, Illinois' enrollment is somewhat higher than it was last year.

Reported in "School and Society," the study shows that Illinois ranks fifth in the grand total of all students enrolled. First five are New York University, 41,307; California, 33,770; City College of New York, 29,674; Columbia, 25,119; and Illinois, 22,231.

Four Students Win Shorthand Certificate

Four girls, Carolyn Garrison, Romona McDowell, Shirley Grimes, and Grace Nemeth, have won their 80 word Gregg shorthand certificates.

Typing certificates were awarded to students passing a 10 minute typing test with less than five errors. These certificates were issued through the Sanford-Brown business college. The typing I students receiving certificates were Marilyn Ragsdale, typing 30 words per minute and Bill Ewell, typing 40 words per minute. Three typing II students receiving certificates were Evelyn Brannan, Bonita Gwin, and Ope James.

Library Club Holds Party

Book contests requiring the names of famous fictional lovers and titles of books with the word "red" in them were held at the Valentine party of the Library club Feb. 13, from 4 to 7 p. m. Another stunt consisted of each member making an extemporaneous speech on a subject indicated by a small picture.

Refreshments of Valentine cookies were served.

Many new books have been recently bought for the library.

Some of the latest books received are: Giant—Edna Ferber, The Silver Chalice—Charles Costain, My Cousin Rachael—Du Maurier, The Sojourner—Rawlins, Witness—Whittaker Chambers, This Changing World—Allen, Boys Will Be Men—Burnham, Grandma Moses, Autobiography, Complete works of Shakespeare, The Magic Lantern—Carsm, Kontiki—Heyerdahl, Lincoln and His Generals—Harry Williams, The World of Washington Irving—Brooks, You the Jury—Borden.

Homemakers Hold Bake Sale, Feb. 9-14

A bake sale was sponsored by the homemaking I classes under the supervision of Mrs. Marshall Cothran during the week of Feb. 9 to 14.

All kinds of cakes and candies were sold during the sale. All items were homemade by the homemaking I classes at school. The cakes and candies were sold for Valentine gifts. They were decorated with hearts, coconut, pecans, and colored frosting. The profits will be used for general improvements in the homemaking department.

A special sale of all cakes not sold at school was held in a booth uptown Saturday, Feb. 14. The cakes included angel food, white cakes, and devil's food.
