Queen To Be Announced Thursday

Band To Lead Annual Parade

The annual homecoming parade is scheduled for Friday, October 30, at 4:00 p. m.

The band will lead the parade, beginning on West Church Street. Following the band will be the homecoming queen and attendants; then the floats and decorated cars. The parade will proceed on West Church Street and then to the square. The parade will move counterclockwise around the square.

From the square the band will march west on West Poplar to South McKinley and south on McKinley to Sloan Street.

All entries will remain in line until the winners have been announced.

A float is defined as a "platform on wheels, a vehicle with a platform used as a mount for an exhibit in a procession." An automobile may have a platform and qualify as a float. Otherwise it will be classed as a decorated car. A truck with a truck bed will be classed as a float.

Any school, alumni, or civic organization may make as many entries as they desire. All entries must express some homecoming or football theme to be considered in judging. The parade will begin at 4:00 p. m. and all entries must be in line no later than 3:30 p. m. Judging of the entries will begin at that time.

The winners of floats will be announced at the half-time of the football game after the presentation of the homecoming queen candidates and the attendants. The prizes for floats in classes A, school organizations, and class B, alumni, for first prize will be $3.00. Second place winners in these same classes will receive $2.00 and third place winners will receive $1.00. Winning floats of civic organizations will receive $3.00 and $2.00 prizes for first and second place. Decorated cars of school organizations will receive a $3.00 award for first place, $2.00 for second place, and $1.00 for third place. Decorated cars entered by alumni and civic organizations will receive first and second place awards of $3.00 and $2.00. Bicycles will be judged as class D entries and the first place winner will receive a basketball season ticket.

Cast is Chosen For "Home Sweet Homicide"

"Home Sweet Homicide" has been chosen as the Junior Class play to be presented on November 13, 1959.

The three-act mystery-comedy centers around the three Carstairs' young people, their widowed mother, who writes mystery stories to support the household, and all the people they come in contact with as they discover a murder of a blackmailer has taken place next door. The youngsters

Beggs Heads Homecoming Committee

Mrs. Mary Beggs, general chairman of homecoming this year, has appointed the committees to assist her with the various activities.

Heading the parade committee is Mr. Beers. Serving with him are Messrs. Cothran, Thompson, Price, Bell, Lienesch, and Schork. The parade is scheduled for 4:00 p. m., Friday, October 30.

At press time plans were incomplete as to whether the queen's identity would be revealed at the pep rally or held as a secret until the actual coronation.

The committee responsible for the organization of the queens and coronation consists of Mrs. Beggs, chairman, Mr. Hunsinger, Mrs. Foster, Miss Moore, and Mr. Dotson.

The dance and coronation committee is headed by Mr. Parkhurst, assisted by Miss Bovinet, Mr. Bauman, Mrs. Abegglen, and Mrs. Cothran.

The publicity committee is composed of Mrs. Shupe, Mrs. Dunn, and Miss Foust. They are being assisted by Mr. Bill Melton of the Daily Register staff.

They decide to give a party and under cover of the noise enter the house in search of clues. They come back with some very valuable clues. Just how valuable, they begin to realize as the clues bring first one and then another into the mystery of the murdered woman, and they are seriously threatened.

Dennis Speaks At FHA Rally

Judge Trafton Dennis of Harrisburg will be the featured speaker at an eight-county rally of the Future Homemakers of America which will be held in the auditorium of Mount Vernon Township High School and Community College.

About 50 members, six mothers, and two teachers, will attend from the local chapter. Included in this number will be Linda Larson, who is the section parliamentarian. The entire Harrisburg group will make the seventy mile trip to Mount Vernon by bus.

Mount Vernon will be host to the 24 schools of Section Three, which includes Edwards, Gallatin, Hamilton, Jefferson, Wayne, Saline, Wabash and White counties.

Family Unity will be the theme of the program. It will begin at 9 a.m. with registration and a mixer conducted by Edwards County High School and will continue with a devotional period by Cisne, introduction of officers by Ann Chaney of Mount Vernon, Section Three president, reports of officers, and a skit by delegates to the national convention in Chicago.

Judge Dennis' address at 10:20 will deal with the solution of family problems and the promotion of better family relations.

Disney, Bramlet, Lambert, Garavalia Are Candidates

At the pep rally which will follow a snake dance from the square, one of the four queen candidates will be announced as homecoming queen for 1959. The four candidates for queen are Linda Disney, Nancy Bramlet, Sue Lambert, and Rosemarie Garavalia. The four candidates were picked by popular vote from a group of twelve girls, nominated by senior class members.

Each of the three lower classes will be represented in the coronation by an attendant. Each class nominated five girls at a class meeting. From this ballot each class elected one. The junior class will be represented by Betty Sue Thomason. The representative of the sophomore class is Karol Gulledge, and the freshmen class has elected Willa Vaughn for their attendant.

The queen and her court will be presented Friday night in Bonnell Gym at the Homecoming Coronation and Ball. The freshman attendant will enter first, followed by the sophomore class attendant. The junior class attendant will be the third to enter. The three senior maids of honor will come next, and the procession will end with the entrance of the queen.

The queen and her court will be escorted by the senior football players. The escorts and alternates are John Donovan, Roger Aldridge, Dennis Goolsby, Jerry Kane, Steven Frantz, Larry Wise, John Pickford, and Kenneth Smith.

Included in the court will be Cynthia Cothran, Susie Gaskins, John Foster, and Sam Beggs. Misses Cothran and Gaskins will carry the crown and scepter to the throne. Masters Foster and Beggs will carry the train of the queen's royal robe.

Bill Arensman will serve as announcer during the coronation.

Hi-Tri Sponsors Twirp Dance

After our football game, October 9, with Mt. Vernon, the Hi-Tri sponsored a "Fall Ball," which was twirp. Brightly colored autumn leaves decorated Bonnell Gym, presenting a lively autumn atmosphere, and red lights shone from the stage, adding to the color.

As an added attraction, the school combo, formed by George Dennis, Douglas Young, Mickey Mugge, Charles Whitlock, Cline Towle and Wendell Lambert provided the music. Chaperones for the dance were Miss Foust and Mrs. Dunn.

School Spirit: Our Responsibility

It is easy to have school spirit with a winning team on the field or on the hard courts. But school spirit is more than just a few well organized yells from the stands in the stadium or the gym. Cheering students, cheerleaders, brass bands, though all this is a necessary part of it, do not alone make school spirit. School spirit is a 24-hour a day responsibility for every student. It must have its expression in the classroom, in the corridors, in the cafeteria, in the gym, in public and at home, for school spirit is primarily an attitude: it is a real interest in and concern for your school and its activities.

School spirit should stem not only from pride in our buildings, but also from knowledge that HTHS provides an intellectual, spiritual and athletic program that is second to none.

Good school spirit pays off in many ways. For you at HTHS it brings esteem and honor to your church, your community, your home and yourself. In this way only can you prepare yourself to fulfill all your obligations in your community and in your country.

HTHS appreciates the support you give to its athletic program and knows that this support will continue to grow as the 1959-60 athletic season progresses. HTHS wants your support in every activity that makes up its academic and social life.

At the end of the school year will you have fulfilled your individual responsibility as a student at HTHS?

Do You Appreciate Your Band?

Do you appreciate your high school band?

If it weren't for the band, there wouldn't be much of a cheering section of students at the basketball and football games. Sure, students go, but often don't feel like shouting for the team because they are too often lazy and very dead in spirit.

The members of the HTHS band have the spirit, and they use it to back up the Bulldogs. Of course, there are many students who also have a lot of school spirit, and I take my hat off to them.

The band is a regular class with its members receiving one-half credit a year. That in itself is a sacrifice, because most classes give one full credit.

The band also does several things a year. They march in parades, at football games, play for basketball games and pep meetings, and participate in activities at S. I. U., just to mention a few. The band doesn't ask much of you, but what they do ask, you should try to do.

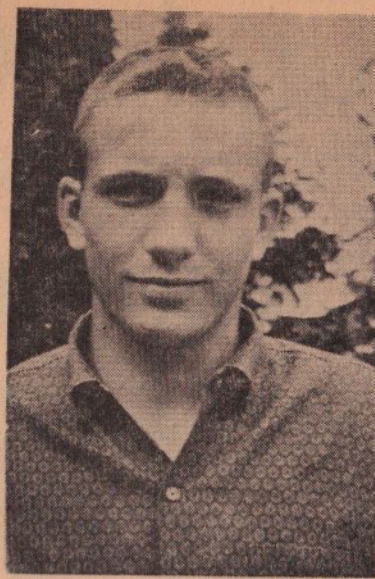

Steve Maszaros

The Proper Pace

If you wish to be really on the ball with your corridor manners, I'd like to give you a few pointers. As you burst into the building, yell at your best friend who is halfway down the hall to wait for you while you run to your locker. Now you are in a hurry, and these slow-moving creatures are obstacles in your pathway. Merely shove them aside and slam the doors in their faces; then maybe they'll learn a little speed! In your haste at the locker, a few pieces of paper strewn on the floor won't matter much—the janitor will sweep it up tonight. So it's back down the corridor to your pal, who meantime has been talking to a crowd of other students and thus blocking traffic. With the sound of the ball, there is a mad scramble to classes, and finally the halls are safe, at least until the next bell sounds.

Certainly the preceding was not an account of the majority's actions, but it might be an account of YOURS. Conduct in the halls is important, or rules such as these would not exist: In corridors and on the stairs, walk, don't run, and keep to the right; don't stop to talk or visit; keep your voice low and don't shout. These regulations are not intended to restrict anyone, and they should not have to be enforced. Always strive to conduct yourselves as ladies and gentlemen, and there will be no question as to the appropriate manners.

Spotlite On Four

Seniors at last! Doesn't it seem as though those 3 years passed quickly? This week we are spotlighting our four Senior Class officers.

Our president, Steven Frantz, is also president of his home room. He's a fullback for the Bulldogs and associate sports editor for the Clarion. In addition he is in the Journalism and our new Greek letter math club, Mu Alpha Theta.

I'm sure you all remember our vice-president, Stanley Beck, as Hercules, the cab driver in the 1958-1959 Junior Play. Stanley has been very active in student politics; he has been an officer of his home room twice and also treasurer of the Student Council. He must be musically inclined for he is a member of the band, the chorus, and the Vocalaires. Also an associate editor of the Keystone and an active member of the Latin Club, Thespians, H-Y, and Key Club.

Pat Easley, our treasurer, is also one of our peppy varsity cheerleaders. She is in F. H. A., Hi-Tri, and the Journalism Club. She also manages to find time to write for the Clarion.

Our secretary, Stanley Sue Lambert, is well-known to every one as one of the twirlers with the marching band. She is another of our musically inclined officers (is there something magically musical in the name Sue?) for she is in the concert band, concert choir, and the Vocalaires, in addition to being in the Girl Trio. With all these other time-consuming activities to practice, she still finds time to be a Keystone typist.

Well, that's our senior officers this year. I think they're well-selected and will work hard for the class.

Mr. Soule: "How many senses did nature give us?"
David Pardini: "Seven."
Mr. Soule: "Name them."
David: "Touch, sight, taste, smell, hearing, horse and common."

Visitor: I can't tell you how delighted I am, Mrs. Giles. My son, Regie, has won a scholarship.

Farmer's wife: I can understand your feelings, Ma'am. I felt the same way when our pig won a medal at the agricultural show.

H.T.H.S.: High Caliber Education

On many different occasions, Mr. Henson has told the school body that he feels our high school is one of the best in many ways. There are many other people who feel the same way, for we have many reasons to be proud of and to appreciate HTHS.

Through the years the taxpayers, the educators, and the school board have cooperated to make our school one of the finest in the area.

We have good facilities which are constantly being improved. This can be seen in the most recent addition to the buildings, the Davenport Gymnasium, and also in the improvements at Taylor Field.

Much credit belongs to the HTHS faculty. Mr. Henson is forever busy with endless tasks to help our students and the school as a whole. We are very fortunate to have the high quality of teachers we have. Their sincere concern for the students, their willingness to give their extra time for student activities, and their real desire to further the growth of education all contribute to the high standards of our school.

There is still another all important factor which influences the calibre of the HTHS students. It is through their ability, ambition and achievement that the success of the school is shown.

Although our school possesses these numerous assets and good qualiteis, we must never become actually satisfied and then become complacent. Only by striving to become better—to always improve—are we able to maintain our high standards.

Don't Be Surprised

What is Halloween? This is a question that could be asked of 100 people and 99 wouldn't know the correct answer. Mr. Webster told me it is the day preceding All Saint's Day. Now, most people probably think since they are going to have to be saints the next day, they're going to be as mean as they can the night before, and I do mean mean. For instance, don't be surprised if a generous amount of corn is donated to the front porch. Don't be surprised if the windows need washing, at least the vandals donated the soap. All a person can say at Halloween is—don't be surprised.

Is It Right?

Near the beginning of October we always start thinking of Halloween. Some people are probably thinking about all the porches they will corn or all the windows they will soap and every other mean prank they can think of.

There are two ways of celebrating Halloween, a right way and a wrong way. The wrong way is by destroying other people's property and doing other mean things. I can see no point in this. What satisfaction does it bring to a person? The right way is dressing up and going to parties or dancing, going to the movies, staying home, etc. We could dress up and go up-town on Halloween night to see the different costumes.

When I was in the eighth grade, a girl friend and I went up town on Halloween night, and when we were ready to leave, we honestly looked like a couple of walking tubes of lipstick. My white

We Are Not Children Anymore

On a dark and dreary night, shadowy figures slip stealthily toward a farmer's ripe melon patch. Making no noise, they poke through melons until they have the choicest ones of all. Finally, they creep over the fence and are gone, swallowed up in the blackness of night.

This is just a single example of how childish pranks are pulled on Halloween night. Many children are satisfied with "trick or treatin," but others believe that Halloween is a night to get mean and do things out of the ordinary.

This is brought on by the urge of growing up, but does not have to be a part of it. Children at this stage should be taught by their parents better manners, and should be disciplined harshly so as they will not make that same mistake again. They could have suffered bodily harm by the owner if he had caught them in the act. Yes, Halloween is childish, but just make sure that you do not make these mistakes, the mistakes of children, not grown up adolescents.

Nick Hicks

sweater was ruined, and I had to wash my hair that same night to get all the lipstick out of it. Let's make this Halloween fun and safe by celebrating in the right way.

Interviews Of Interest

Many HTHS students this year are finding new vistas of classes opening to them which present themselves in interesting ways. The first student I interviewed, Pat Merrow, a junior, found chemistry gives her first real chance for self accomplishment in a classroom. This feeling of participation in the classroom makes one work harder and creates a feeling of accomplishing a goal in everyone as well as in Pat. Don't you think? Also Pat plans to become a nurse, so it is rewarding and interesting besides being a required subject for college entrance.

English now comes in review, (Wait, don't run yet!), where some one, namely Brenda Crain, finds Eng. IIB interesting. Being a sophomore, she finds two jokers in her class hilarious. You can see, therefore, there's never a dull moment in Brenda's English class. Being a student in this class doesn't prove boring or dry she stated, as anyone can see why.

Yes, more and more students, such as Pat and Brenda, are finding subjects interesting in the 59-60 school term this year. You may also find the same interest if you participate in class rather than just sit there. Getting daily assignments has proven to be, however, the most helpful and rewarding efforts known. So why not work harder on those lessons tonight and see if you don't find some of your classes interesting to you also?

News Story Brings Huge Audience For Seniors:

Delivering a speech at a banquet on the night of his arrival at a large city, a visiting bishop told several anecdotes he expected to repeat at another meeting the following day.

Because of wanting to use the joke again, he asked reporters to omit them from any accounts they might run in their newspapers.

A cub reporter, in commenting on the speech, ended his piece with this: "The bishop told a number of stories that cannot be published."

The meeting next day was attended by an overflow crowd.

Miss Bernice Patterson, head of HTHS English Department, checks research papers from her college preparatory classes.

Our Most Important Product

Progress is not only General Electric's, but also our high school's most important product. This year a very beneficial change in the English department has been made. College preparatory courses are being offering to strong senior English students who either plan to go to college or want more out of life than a "dinner ticket."

The instructor of the course, Miss Patterson, explained that the students do regular required work plus additional reading, such as Shakespearean and Creek plays and epics as well as book reports. Fundamental high school grammar is taken rapidly to allow the students more time for theme writing and essays with an emphasis on vocabulary.

Right now the students are writing a research paper on such topics as Robert Frost's poetry, jazz music, juvenile crime, cancer, peaceful uses of atomic energy, and the United Nations. Perhaps most of these subjects sound uninteresting, but that is the writer's job—to make them appealing to the reader. All these extras will later benefit the student in college rhetoric.

Another important feature of our English department is the University of Illinois rating. This system of grading is sent to Miss Patterson each year—denoting the grammatical weaknesses of college students. Errors such as comma splices, sentence fragments, and misspelled words may prove disastrous to any composition in regard to grades. This rating shows the English teachers of HTHS where students need extra work in order to prepare for college and later life.

Also our English department has won various outstanding awards of excellency. Maybe some of the HTHS students have failed in the past to read a small plaque hanging on the west side of Pemberton Hall. If so; then they have also failed to feel their chests swell with pride, for the words printed upon the plaque "Commend our department of English for evidence of excellence in its instructional program, as revealed by its apparent contribution to the high quality of writing and literary awareness of its students honored with the 1959 N. C. F. E. Achievements Award."

Homecoming And You

What do you like or dislike about H. T. H. S.'s Homecoming? Maybe you will agree with these students on their veivs. If you don't, however, I hope it will provoke more school spirit and cooperation from you students.

Mary Jo Bynum said, "I like the parades which are always part of the festivity. Working on floats is a worthwhile project, and I like to take part in it as well as all the other Homecoming festivities. I have only one dislike—that is the losing of games such as that last one."

Our upperclassmen have by far the better views and opinions about homecomings. Wendell Lambert is an example of a Senior who had quite a lot to say about this annual activity of Homecoming. Wendell told me he liked the way Homecoming created a new feeling of school spirit in H. T. H. S. Also, everyone who wants to take part in it can find his place and still have the feeling of achievement. Have you noticed that Harrisburg has the biggest Homecoming around Southern Illinois? The clubs and organizations all participate and back this affair. Many old alumni return to their school, and I think it does them good to see H. T. H. S. more vigorous than it used to be when they were here.

But now the scene is darkened by some of you students who don't participate. Now you ask, "Well, what does it mean to me?" I will be glad to answer that question. If you're part of H. T. H. S. and don't participate, you are only considered a visitor here. One doesn't stand back and watch others do the work. Working together is what the school tries to teach you as well as education. You can surely find some place to lend a helping hand so you can participate.

"Say, did that letter I gave you to mail have a stamp on it?"

"No, but it's okay, I sneaked it into the mail box when nobody was looking."

Beauty on Wheels

Homecoming! The time everyone has been waiting for—homecoming queen and attendants, floats, football games, excitement, and fun for all! There is always a lot of work involved in building a float, and if you have ever tried to get a sneak preview of one, you would realize no one gives up their ideas without a fight. There is quite a difference between a decorated car and float. A float is pulled by a truck while a car is just usually decorated with crepe paper. Different awards are given for both cars and floats. Many different ideas have been used on our floats. Last year the Hi-Tri had a huge whale with "Whale of a Victory" written on the side; the Senior float was a huge peacock with "Proud as a Peacock" written on it. This was the winning float last year, and it showed a large amount of work and effort.

The floats are always beautiful, and they make us proud that we are a part of HTHS.

SALESMAN: "We'd rather you use the dressing room."

A salesman, upon reaching his destination, calmly opened the gate and walked into a yard. About half-way in the yard, the salesman was bitten on the leg by a dog. Immediately he left the yard and went home.

A few days later, the salesman returned. He opened the gate, entered the yard, and proceeded to the door. When the lady of the household opened the door, he said, "House (how's) your dog." The lady replied, "I did."

A bank cashier was given a check for sixty-three dollars. The cashier said he wanted the check cashed in six bills, no one dollars, and no change.

Can you do it?

Ways to Kill A Club

1. Don't attend the meetings, but if you do, arrive late.
2. Be sure to leave before the meeting is closed.
3. Never have anything to say at the meeting—wait until you get outside.
4. When at the meeting, vote to do everything, then go home and do nothing.
5. The next day, find fault with the officers and other members.
6. Take no part in the organization's affairs.
7. Be sure to sit in the back, so you can talk freely to another member.
8. Get all the organization will give you but don't give the organization anything.
9. Never ask any one to join the organization.
10. At every opportunity, threaten to resign and try to get others to.
11. Talk cooperation, but don't cooperate.
12. If asked to help, say you haven't time.
13. Never read anything pertaining to the organization.
14. Never accept an office—it is easier to criticize than to do things.
15. If appointed to a committee, never give any time or service to it.
16. If you receive a bill for dues, ignore it.
17. Don't do any more than you have to and when the others willingly and unselfishly use their ability to help the good cause along, then howl that the organization is run by a clique.

Darrell (screaming): "Help, help; an alligator bit off my leg."

Lillian: "Which one?"

Darrell: "How should I know? All these alligators look alike to me!"

Excuse Table Saves Time

To save teacher's time—and your own valuable moments—please give all excuses by number this year. The following list covers most situations.

1. That's the way I've always done it.
2. I didn't know the homework was due today.
3. That's not how I was taught in the seventh grade.
4. You didn't tell me to do it.
5. I was waiting for you to check this, so I'll know if I'm doing it right.
6. How did I know third year Latin was different from second year?
7. Why didn't you give this question to a "brain?"
8. I copied Mary's paper and she had it wrong.
9. I forgot.
10. I didn't think we were supposed to read that page.
11. I had so much other homework last night I just couldn't get to it.

How to Act

Do You Have Trouble With Introductions?

Introductions often bother people. There is a right way and a wrong way, and perhaps you are one who always stumbles around trying to get the right kind of introductions out.

Introduce one person to another:

(1) The boy to the girl: "Mary, this is John."

(2) A man to a woman: "Miss Brown, this is Mr. Black."

(3) The younger or less honored person to the older or more respected person: "Governor Green, this is Mr. Jones."

(4) A person to a group: "I'd like you all to meet Peter Black."

Later when you have learned to make introductions simply and correctly, you may want to add something that will get people off to a quick start in a good conversation.

Introductions come only with practice, so keep these few rules in mind and soon you will be an "old pro."

There are still people who can remember when the cost of high living was lower than the present high cost of living.

Freshman Frolics

Meet Willa Vaughn, an unusual queen attendant who enjoys homework. To her, homework presents a challenge, and she enjoys a challenge. This blue-eyed, blonde-haired "miss" loves Paul Anka and could listen to "Put Your Head on My Shoulder" and "Mr. Blue" all night. But once you put "The Battle of New Orleans" on, she would vanish like a streak of lightning.

When it is time for dinner, I think you would see her quicker if German Chocolate Cake is on the menu instead of spinach.

Willa's wardrobe is composed mostly of sweaters and skirts. She wouldn't have a balloon dress if someone would give it to her.

From her explanation I think she prefers stories of teenagers because her favorite movie was "Gidget."

Even though she enjoys going to the show, when the words "77 Sunset Strip" come out of the TV, she will make a beeline for her favorite chair and watch a mystery being solved.

During the summer months it's swimming at the Hbg. pool or down at Dixon Springs and boating on Kentucky Lake. From this you can tell she is an outdoor girl.

Willa is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Moore of 415 West Church St. here in Harrisburg. She has three sisters: Joyce, who is married, Linda, a junior here at HTHS and Polly who is in the third grade at Horace Mann.

Willa said, "I am very happy being the freshman queen attendant. I didn't think I would get it, but I had hopes."

1959 Fads And Fashions

As in all past years, the season is approaching in which it proves very interesting to begin observing the new fall fashions. This year, the trend seems to be toward the "matched" look, and this especially applies for steady couples. It seems that almost all clothes for girls can also be bought to match some article of boys' clothing. By only glancing around the halls, I can see couples wearing identical shirts, and skirts and trousers to match. During cold weather, they also will be donning identical bulky sweaters, and even matched "car coats." Most of them this year complete with raccoon collars.

Shoes are becoming quite different for both boys and girls this fall. Girls are all trying out the new "spool," or "squash" heels, and quite a few boys are wearing new lightweight shoes which appear to be very comfortable. The pointed toe is still very popular, but is slightly giving way to the squared off toe, appearing on shoes for boys and girls.

I am sure many people, myself included, are happy to notice that the chemise, or "sack" look is definitely on its way out, and that girls are looking more like themselves, although most dresses are still bearing short skirts.

One of the old styles that is still very popular with high school boys and girls in the bulky look in sports and school wear. This style, combined with the Ivy League look in boys clothing is steadily increasing in popularity, and I, along with many others, really "go" for both styles.

As is very plain to see, this year most styles that are popular with girls are also quickly becoming popular among the male set; so it appears obvious that boys and girls are not beginning to shape similar likes and dislike about their clothing. This fact should prove to be very helpful when, in the near-coming future, boys and girls will have to begin selecting Christmas presents for that "special one" in their lives.

A Strange Experience

Starting out as just another camping trip, this one ended in an experience which took at least ten years off all our lives.

These being strange woods, I was kind of uneasy from the first. I said we should have walked through them in the daytime before staying in them all night.

Nevertheless, after finding a good campsite, everything was fine until about dark, when it started pouring rain and thundering and lightning. After gathering our equipment and walking through the woods for what seemed like ages, we came to a perpendicular cliff. The lightning, flashing all around, made it seem almost like daylight, and we saw at the top of the cliff what appeared to be a house or a cabin. It was shelter, and we lost no time in finding a way up the cliff to the shackled house. Apparently it was deserted; so we made ourselves at home. After lighting a fire in the fireplace, we explored the ground floor of the house. Unfortunately, we couldn't get upstairs because the stairs had been torn down.

Everything went fine until about nine o'clock when the wind increased and a strange whistling sound came floating down from upstairs. Figuring it was just the wind and nothing to worry about, we tried to get some sleep. But sleep did not come easily, and we lay awake in that house talking to each other in low whispers.

By eleven thirty the storm was at its peak, and so were the eerie noises. Then suddenly there was a scream, the likes of which I have never heard before, and a loud thud on the upstairs floor. Then the floor creaked and sounded as if someone, a very heavy someone, was walking on the upstairs floor. No one said a word. The walking and the whistling sounds continued, as if a ghostly spirit were pacing the floor. Knowing something was up there and not knowing what it was, caused many imaginary thoughts to race through our minds. Then one of the boys said something in a whisper and reached for the twenty-two rifle, our only weapon. He fired the gun up through the floor in the direction of the sounds until the barrel was empty. Something was up there—but what! Someone had to find out!

Drawing cards was the best way we knew so we drew. I lost and we thought two should go; so they drew again to see who would go with me.

After emptying the rifle into the ceiling all noises had stopped and now even the storm had let up. Everything was deathly still as we climbed the gutter to get up to the open window.

As I looked in, I could see nothing. When the lightning flashed again, I saw a dark form right in front of me. The next second that same horrible scream pierced the air and a heavy body came hurtling out the window, knocking my friend and me from the gutter to the porch below.

The next thing I knew, I was back inside with a bump on my head and blood on my shoulder where the thing had brushed against me on its way out the window. We never found out what it was, and I personally never want to. Needless to say, we haven't been on any camping trips lately.

Miss Moore: "Can any boy give me a sentence which includes the word paralysis?"

Jimmy Hamilton: "Please, Miss Moore, I can—I went for a swim yesterday and lost my trousers and hard to go home to par Alice's."

With both motors of his plane hopelessly on fire, this pilot showed classic courage. As he donned a parachute, he shouted to the passengers, "Don't anybody panic. I'm going for help now."

Betty Elam: "Charlene, what is your worst sin?"

Charlene Pate: "My vanity, I spend simply hours admiring my beauty."

Betty Elam: "That isn't vanity, dear, that's imagination."

Eyes Focused On "Miki"

The drums rolled, lights flashed and eyes focused on the pert, young lady in the front of the band—Miss Miki Good, HTHS majorette. A bit nervous and excited, Miki carefully blew her whistle for the next band formation. Now for the halt signal—the sharp blows on her whistle and the wave of her baton signified the beginning beat of the song. This young lady is different than the other performers—she's nervous before marching onto the field, but after she's on, she's a big success.

Miki, who has received recognition as a well-known baton twirler, is also a snappy strutter. While taking twirling lessons from "Sugar" Beninatti, Miki learned a great deal of fancy twirling and strutting.

Last summer Miki attended contests in Wisconsin at the "Wisconsin Spectacular of Music," which is a week of twirling camp climaxed with a big contest. At Carbondale last spring, she twirled in the "Chicagoland Music Festival" and was certified to travel to Chicago last summer to compete for final competition.

Having only competed one year in twirling, Miki has won four 1st place trophies, one 4th place trophy and eleven medals. She has also won three first place trophies, one 2nd place trophy and three medals for strutting.

Although Miki belongs to Hi-Tri, F. H. A., Journalism Club and the Choir, she still finds time to practice in her spare time. During the summer she practiced four to six hours per day. She plans to go to college and she still hopes to continue twirling there.

Wardrobe of Teen Girls

In grandma's day (so we are told) teenage girls had one school dress, one Sunday dress and one house-work dress.

Can you imagine a girl of today wearing the same skirt and sweater every day of the school year?

With so many clothes required in a girl's wardrobe today, it sometimes becomes difficult to plan one that is attractive, of good quality and yet does not cost too much.

Ten Skirts

Many girls have four or five skirts while others have 15 or 16. For a good wardrobe, the average teenage girl has 10 skirts for school wear. These should be of good quality—but this doesn't mean they have to cost $15 each!

The wardrobe also includes 10 sweaters of various styles, 15 blouses with different type of sleeves, at least one pair of saddles, bucks or loafers and a pair of tennis shoes. Ten pairs of wool or heavy cotton socks are considered a necessity.

Accessories include belts, silk scarves, colors and different types of costume jewelry.

For extra special occasions, the teen girls wardrobe should include one formal, two semi-formal dresses and any number of flats and heels.

Bermudas Popular

Even the girl who hates Bermudas cannot do without them these days. Two pairs of wool bermudas and two pair of wool slacks are essential. And sweat shirts (at least one) are included for sports wear.

For the outside, one winter coat, as in Grandma's days, is still sufficient for the modern girl. A winter jacket or car-coat is ideal for games and other school activities. For winter sports like tobogganing or skiing, girls keep warm with a half-dozen or so shirts and crewneck sweaters.

One winter hat is essential, but even more necessary are several wool and knit scarves.

As the teenage boy can well imagine, this girl's closet is quite crowded, even if she does not have a complete wardrobe. (It's amazing how fellows can do with three pairs of slacks, two crewnecks and half a dozen shirts!)

It cost money to maintain an attractive wardrobe, but you can cut down on the price if you take care of what you already own. Buy your clothes with care. Select outfits wisely; don't buy four red skirts in different styles just because you like red!

A woman walked into a doctor's office leading a small white duck on a chain.

Doc: "What can I do for you Madam?"

Woman: "It's not me. It's my husband here. He thinks he's a duck."

With world conditions as they are, the U. S. Cabinet needs a Secretary of Suspense.

Planning a wardrobe need not be difficult if you just sit down and list the clothing you already have. Then on another sheet of paper, list the things you need to complete your wardrobe and figure the approximate cost. Buy these items one at a time, and before you know it, you'll have a wardrobe you can be proud of!

Mrs. Jones: "John, didn't I hear the clock strike two as you came in last night?"

Mr. Jones: "Yes, you did dear. It started to strike ten, but I stopped it to keep from waking you."

The chic blonde witness was being cross-examined.

"Have you ever appeared as a witness in a suit before?"

"Yes!"

"Will you please tell the jury just what suit it was?"

"It was a brown suit with white pique collar and cuffs and buttons all the way down the front."

Henry: "It would be real simple for us to get married, darling; my father is a minister."

Mary: "Fine, let's give it a whirl—my father is a lawyer."

Two boys were discussing a mutual acquaintance.

The first man said, "I hear John's changing his faith."

The second one exclaimed, "You mean he no longer believes he's God?"

An Evening With a Gujx

(Editor's Note: This is a true story)

Why did I buy a ouija board? Why does anyone buy such a ridiculous thing which is supposed to foretell the future and relate the past? Perhaps I was a little crazy. I remember that the heat was terrific that day, and I could attribute my madness to the weather. But you must listen to my story first, and then perhaps you'll buy a ouija board, too.

My girlfriend, Kay, and I had hunted all day for a ouija board; and our madness was not to be for nothing, since that very night we purchased one for four dollars. An outrageous price—perhaps, but I wouldn't sell it for a hundred dollars now.

Excited, we brought it home and carefully removed it from the box. Dusting it with a soft cloth as the directions indicated, we began to examine our ouija board more closely. It was just an ordinary piece of cardboard which had been varnished. The word "Yes" was in the upper left hand corner and "No" in the right. Down at the bottom was the word "good-by," and the alphabet was in the middle.

Kay and I put our hands on the plastic, heart-shaped disc that stood on the board so that it could give us the answers to our questions. Truthfully, we both doubted that the disc would move, but we were hopeful. After all, four dollars is enough to make anyone hopeful.

First of all, we asked it to tell us about itself. Immediately, to our amazement, the tiny disc began pointing out letters, and the letters took the form of words.

"My name is Weja," it replied. I am on the ouija board, but you cannot see me, for I am invisible."

"Are you a man, Weja?" I demanded, seeing in my mind a handsome, mysterious stranger.

"No, I am neither man, woman, animal, nor spirit. I am a Gujx." Kay laughed, "What's a Gujx?"

The little disc made a violent leap toward good-by, and Kay and I both got the message that it didn't exactly like that question.

"Well, Weja, if you won't tell us that, perhaps you'll tell us if you're handsome," I coaxed.

"I am very handsome," it spelled. "I am more handsome than Rock Hudson."

"Wow! What movie star do you look like?"

"None, I am not human. I am only human feelings, but these human feelings are good; so you would think I am handsome. Long ago I was a man, but I have passed on into the world of Gujxs. I foretell the future and relate the past only to those who believe."

This was a creepy situation. To have an ordinary piece of plastic move as if it were alive made me nervous.

"Did you go to school, Weja?" Kay asked.

"Yes, I went to Bay T. S. and majored in business."

Of course! Bay Technological School was the place. But where was it? Naturally, it wouldn't tell us. In fact, it was always very vague about its location.

We did find out, though, that Weja's soul is on the ouija board

Book Review

By Aylesa Forsee

This collection of short biographical sketches of ten famous American women shows clearly that one doesn't have to be born under a lucky star to achieve success. In fact, most of these women seemed to have circumstances, people, and even the elements "working against them," or so our author tells us. Miss Forsee states, "In the face of failure each continued to cherish her dream." Katharine Cornell, for example, (and this seems nearly unbelievable) fought an almost insurmountable shyness before developing into the great actress that she is today.

Those represented in this very readable collection in addition to Miss Cornell are Marian Anderson, Lillian Wald, Agnes de Mille, Florence Ellinwood Allen, Amelia Earhart, Eleanor Roosevelt, Kate Smith, Marguerite Higgins and Juliette Gordon Low.

This is a book you should read

Things That Can't Be Found

The more a person puts into something, the more he gets out of it. That could very well be said about working and earning money. The average everyday person between the ages of ten and one hundred looks for an easy way out of everything, and of course, he looks for a job that requires very little putting into and a lot of getting out of. That means little work and big pay.

I have never heard of such a job, and as far as I know, no one else has either. If they have, I wish they'd tell me about it.

Everyone knows that Ponce de Leon was searching for something that was unreal and didn't exist, when he was trying to find the on one of those blue days when everything has gone wrong. Your troubles will seem insignificant compared to the woes and perils of the gals.

Katherine Wasson

and that his body is in space. He loves to eat; yet for some mysterious reason, he can't. He has dates with Gujx girls, and he dances, but not to our type of rock and roll. Instead, Weja enjoys the monotonous "scratch-scratch" of a needle because that's the way he talks. He told me that he gets a "big charge" out of that kind of music, but he doesn't dig our jazz at all.

Well, you are no doubt wondering if I believe all this "hog-wash" that I've written. That I cannot answer. Most of it I believe, but some of it is too absurd.

Still, my ouija board has been fun to play with. A lot of times it is incorrect; but when it's right, I can always feel little goose-pimples slide down my spine.

There's only one warning, I want to give to all of you who might get one soon—there are a lot of things in the future that are better not to know. Always stop and think before you ask it a question, for even though it may be wrong, you'll be wondering and worrying about it the rest of your life.

Fountain of Youth. Looking for a dream job, or rather a Fountain of Youth, a great number of people are searching for something that doesn't exist. Soon after the hard times come and he feels the effects of no money, the easy-goer realizes that he put little in and got little out.

Royalty on Parade

Homecoming is a grand occasion at HTHS. It isn't a new custom since Homecoming has been held annually for many years. Homecoming week end begins on the eve of Homecoming with a pep rally and bonfire. Another highlight of Homecoming is the parade the next day led by the HTHS band. The floats and cars of the four classes, our school clubs, and many community organizations make up the colorful procession.

For the Homecoming celebration each class elects one attendant, but the senior class elects four. Out of these four the queen is chosen by the football team. Here are only a few of the past queens: Georgia Miley, Dixie Brothers, Shirley Aldridge, Eugenia Gollither, Norma Simpson, Beverley Bishop, Joan Seright, Janet Tanner and Janet Foster. Who will be next to take her place in the line of royalty? Will it be Rosemarie Garavalia, Sue Lambert, Linda Disney or Nancy Bramlet? Only the eventful night will tell.

HHS Students Now In Second Grading Term

October 12 ended the first six weeks of the year 1959-1960. The Honor Roll will be posted and all those honored will be presented at a general assembly. These students will receive a copy of the honor roll at this time.

A comparison of the letter system and number system follows. This is the method of determining grades for any one six weeks grading period and determining the honor roll.

- A—93-100
- B—97-92
- C—80-86
- D—75-79
- F—Failure
- I—Incomplete

At the end of the semester, grades will be averaged. The following method is used. Any one six weeks grade and the semester examination is given a point evaluation as follows:

- A—5 points
- B—4 points
- C—3 points
- D—2 points
- F—1 point

The total of the points for the three weeks grading periods and the semester examination is to be divided by four. Semester averages only are determined as follows:

- 4.75 to 5 points—A
- 3.75 to 4.74 points—B
- 2.75 to 3.74 points—C
- 1.75 to 2.74 points—D
- 1.74 to less points—F

Plus and minus grades will not be given.

At the end of the semester, examinations will be given. No one will be exempt from these exams.

Easy Solution

Kenneth Lea's memory did not have a good reputation, so one day when he returned home his mother asked, "Kenneth, did you mail those letters for me?"

"Yes, Mother," answered Kenneth with an air of pride, "but just as I was about to drop them into the mailbox, I noticed you had put stamps on wrong. That foreign letter had the 4 cent stamp and the home letter had the 9 cent stamp. But I fixed it."

"How in the world did you get the stamps unglued?" asked his mother.

"Oh, I didn't—I just changed the addresses."

"Bravo" to A Finalist

"Hurrah! Two years a finalist!" "This was the exclamation that Mrs. Marie McCormick, H. T. H. S. Office Secretary, made when she found that her Butter Brickle Cake recipe had again been selected among the final recipes in the Modern Living Show Baking Contest. This contest, sponsored by the Globe Democrat, is held each Fall in St. Louis.

Out of the recipes sent in to the Globe only a very few homemakers are chosen to actually come and bake their cakes for the judges. Out of this final group, one person is selected as the winner. Last year's winner ranked number one this year. This was Mrs. McCormick's second year to be chosen to participate at St. Louis.

Although Mrs. McCormick didn't bake the first prize cake, it was even an honor to be chosen as a finalist. On September 10, 1959, she journeyed to Keil Auditorium in St. Louis to bake her cake. Fourteen women baked their cakes at one time while spectators looked on. From Tuesday to Saturday, cakes were baked every two hours from 12:00 until 8:00. Mrs. McCormick baked her Butter Brickle Cake at 8:00—10:00 p. m. All the ingredients were supplied for her. Orphanages were very fortunate when all 350 cakes of the contest were sent to them.

Although Mrs. McCormick didn't win the $500 first prize, she said, "It was a piece of luck that I got to go to St. Louis. It was a wonderful experience."

Here is Mrs. McCormick's Butter Brickle recipe:

The New Season

Summer's waning and the Autumn,
With its brisk and cool winds blowing,
Changes all the tree's green dresses
For its yearly colored showing.
All the trees will don new raiment,
Every wind will soon be opened
To the Autumn, bright and bold.
So I ask you, quite sincerely,
What more could a person wish
Than to witness Nature's wonders
And a season such as this?

BUTTER BRICKLE CAKE:

1. Sift together into bowl 2 cups sifted, Gold Medal flour, 1 1-2 cups sugar; 3 1-2 teaspoons Calumet baking powder; 1 teaspoon salt.

2. Add 3-2 cup high grade vegetable shortening; 3-4 cup plus 2 tablespoons milk; 1 1-2 teaspoon vanilla flavoring; 1-2 teaspoon almond flavoring.

3. Beat vigorously with spoon for 2 minutes by clock (about 150 strokes per min.) You may rest a moment when beating by hand; just count actual beating time or strokes. If using electric mixer beat 2 minutes with mixer on medium speed. Scrape bottom and sides of bowl frequently.

4. Add about 1-2 cup unbeaten egg whites (3 large).

5. Beat 2 minutes scraping bowl frequently.

6. Pour into prepared pans. Bake 25 to 30 minutes in a quick moderate oven (375). When cool ice with Browned Butter Icing (recipe below). Decorate with 1-2 cup toasted slivered almonds, if desired.

BROWNEB BUTTER ICING

Melt, then keep over low heat until golden brown 1-4 cup butter. Remove from heat. Blend in 2 cups sifted confectioner's sugar, 2 tablespoons cream, 1-2 teaspoons vanilla, and 1-2 teaspoon almond extract. Stir in 2 tablespoons hot water. Stir vigorously until cool and of a consistency to spread. (If it gets too thick to spread warm slightly over hot water.)

HTHS Band doing one of their many different formations. In this one they form letter H.

Band Has New Formation For Homecoming

The Harrisburg Township High School Marching Band under the direction of Mr. Marshall Cothran is planning another brilliant performance for the homecoming half time, October 30.

The Bulldogs will be facing the Carbondale Terriers, so the band will introduce their program by saluting the rival team.

Highlighting the half-time festivities will be the introduction of the queen and her court. The marching band plans to honor the queen by forming a heart, and while the Queen and her attendants are introduced to the Bulldog fans and parade in open convertibles the band will play "Let Me Call You Sweetheart."

Miki Gooch, majorette of the H. T. H. S. Marching Band, will honor the Homecoming spectators with a rare performance by twirling with a flaming baton. Miss Gooch is a senior at H. T. H. S. and has led the 92 piece Marching Band through many outstanding maneuvers during the past year.

Eagles Edge Bulldogs, 18-13

The Eldorado Eagles scored on a pass play with two minutes and fifteen seconds left in the game to edge the Bulldogs, 18-13.

It was the fourth straight year that the Eagles have beaten the Bulldogs. But it was the most interesting and best played game the two teams have played in years.

Each team had seven first downs. Harrisburg had 219 total yards from scrimmage to 247 for Eldorado. The Bulldogs made 180 yards rushing and completed four of six passes for 39 yards. Eldorado completed four out of seven for 109 yards.

The set-up for the first touchdown was made when Roger Aldridge passed for Harrisburg, and Eldorado fumbled with Harrisburg recovering on the E-25. Harrisburg moved to the E-8 but could go no farther. On the following first play again Eldorado fumbled with Bulldog tackle Ken Smith recovering. On the Bulldogs first play, speedster Larry Wise swept around his left end for the T.D. The kick by Goolsby for an extra point failed.

Eldorado got its first touchdown when fullback Ronnie Phelps ran 29 yards to tie the score at 6-6.

The second half had just started when Wise, with fine blocking, got through the spongy Eldorado defense and sped 62 yards to score. The attempt for the extra point was good on a pass from Karnes to Roberson. Harrisburg took the lead 13-6.

Eldorado scored three plays later to tie the score, with a 69 yard pass play—Lane to Bramlet.

Harrisburg got a good drive going, but it was killed by penalties. There was 2 fifteen yard penalties against the Bulldogs in this drive. This was too much for even the Bulldogs to overcome.

The winning touchdown came late in the fourth quarter, when Lane passed to Hatfield, who made a lucky one-handed catch to race across to put Eldorado ahead 18-13.

Some of the movies shown on TV are so old that the actors still have their original hair.

Bull Pups Revenge Varsity, 28-18

In spite of the uncooperative weather and the muddy field, the Bullpups ground out their second victory of the year by defeating the Eldorado Eaglets by a score of 28 to 18.

After Eldorado had taken advantage of a fumble on the opening play by scoring the first touchdown, the Bullpups countered with a long pass from Mugge to Wilson which brought the ball to the Eldorado ten-yard line. On the play Banks carried the ball over for the touchdown. Lewellen's dash was good for the extra point.

The Bullpups found themselves deep in Eldorado territory when Vineyard recovered a fumble on the Eldorado twenty-five. A few plays afterward, Ragan carried the ball into the end zone to make the score 13-6. Again Lewellen carried for the extra point.

The Eaglets countered with a march that was climaxed by a touchdown pass which made the score 14-12. The try for the extra point failed. A long run and short plunge by Lewellen once again put the Bullpups in the end zone. The extra point was accomplished by a pass from Mugge to Wilson. The first half ended with the score Harrisburg 21, Eldorado 12.

After a scoreless third quarter Eldorado's Murphy ran forty-four yards for a score. Harrisburg blocked the extra point attempt making the score 21-18. In the last minutes of play steady gains of Lewellen, Sittig, Jones, Banks and Ragan accounted for the Bullpups fourth touchdown. Ragan carried for the extra point. When the final gun ended the game the score was 28-18 in favor of the Bullpups.

Bulldogs Bow To Rams, 34-6

The Bulldogs lost their first South Seven Conference game of the season to a powerful Mt. Vernon team, 34-6.

Mt. Vernon, with a good line and exceptionally fast backs, scored two touchdowns the first quarter, two in the third quarter and one in the fourth while the Bulldogs only touchdown was in the third quarter. The Harrisburg touchdown started when Dale Roberson intercepted a Mt. Vernon pass and carried the ball to the M-16 and then after a couple of plays a pass from quarterback Bobby Karnes to Dale Roberson gave the Bulldogs their six points.

A vacationing artist requested a colorful old Ozark farmer to pose for him. "Pop," wheedled the artist, "I'll give you a ten-dollar bill if you'll let me paint you."

"Okay," conceded the farmer grudgingly, "but you'll have to tell me how to get the stuff off when you're finished."

Wise Runs from Halfback Position

Larry Wise, Bulldog halfback speedster, has been doing a very excellent job of running from his halfback position this year. Larry, in each of the three ballgames so far, has made several excellent runs either for good yardage or for touchdowns. (Example, 62 yard touchdown against Eldorado). Larry is especially effective on roll-outs around the ends.

Larry, a senior at HTHS, has been playing football for four years. The saying "it takes a big man to play football," is certainly proven false by Larry. Larry is only about 5' 8" tall and only weighs 145 pounds. This doesn't make any difference to Larry, who is doing a fine job filling the halfback position.

Looking At Sports

This year's homecoming game finds Harrisburg slugging it out against the Peoria team. Carbondale, a team that usually does quite well in football, has gotten off to a fine start this year by beating the Metropolis Trojans last September 25 by the score of 41 - 14. It is expected to be a very exciting game and a big homecoming crowd will undoubtedly be on hand.

Elsewhere in sports we find a number of unbeaten teams from last year still unbeaten thus far this season. Centralia, unbeaten last year, is well on its way to another perfect season with two decisive victories thus far this season. Another southern Illinois unbeaten last year is Murphysboro, who notched their second straight victory this year by downing Pinckneyville 20-6 last September 25. Another unbeaten team farther north is Peoria Manual, who clouted East Peoria 38-7. Also in the northern section we find Marshall well on its way to another perfect season by two straight victories.

The Perfect Player

IF he was:
IF he had:
IF he could:
Pass like Bobby Karnes can.
Evade the uneligible list the way Steven Frantz does.
Run the way Larry Wise motates.
Fake like Dale Roberson.
Eager beaver about football like John Utter.
Catch those passes in the manner of Larry Ledford.
Touch down! That was John Donovan streaking across!

Wiley Tells Hi-Tri About U. N. Pilgrimage

"Bonjour," "Guten Morgen," "Buon giorno!" "Good morning!" These are the words that one hears every morning in the United Nations in New York, where Cheryl Wiley visited last summer. On September 28, she spoke to the Hi-Tri about the trip, which was sponsored by the Odd Fellows Lodge. Lasting for two weeks, the trip built closer relations with the United Nations. Cheryl won the trip by making the highest grade on a series of tests about the United Nations. She accompanied thirty-nine other students on the trip.

Two days were spent in Washington, D. C., where students visited the White House, the Smithsonian Institute and the Treasury Building where all paper money is made. The students also visited many historic places. Appropriately, they were in Philadelphia on July 4, and also visited Valley Forge. In New York they were taken on a three hour boat trip around Manhattan Island, went to the top of the Empire State Building and even saw the play, "My Fair Lady."

While in New York City they stayed at the International House, where students from all over the world live while going to school in New York. The visitors were able to talk with many of these students.

Cheryl and the other guests were given a tour through the United Nations building and listened through earphones to the conversations of some of the members. She also talked with the United States representative and learned about the special agencies of the school band?
